READING COMPREHENSION (SEEN)

1. Read the following paragraphs and answer the questions that follow :

It was a flowering mustard field, pale like melting gold, as it swept across miles and miles of even land. The child looked up to his father and mother, and filled with the joy and wonder of this vast glory, left the footpath and plunged into the field, prancing like a colt.

‘Come, child, come, come on the footpath.’ He went towards his parents gaily and walked along side by side with them for a while. However, he was soon left behind, attracted by the little insects and worms along the footpath that were coming out from their hiding places to enjoy the sunshine. ‘Come, child, come,’ his parents called. They were resting under a tree, sitting on the edge of a well. He ran towards them. An old banyan tree had outstretched its powerful arms over the blossoming jackfruit, jamun, neem, champak and serisha, and cast its shadows across beds of golden cassis and crimson gulmohar, as an old grandmother spreads her skirts over her young ones.

‘Come, child, come,’ they called to the child, who had now gone running round the banyan tree and, gathering him, they took the narrow, winding footpath which led to the fair from the mustard fields.

As they neared the village, the child could see many other footpaths full of crowds going to the fair.

A sweetmeat seller called out; gulab-jamun, rosgulla, burfi, jalebi, at the corner of the entrance, and a crowd pressed round his counter. The child stared open-eyed and his mouth watered for the ‘burfi’, which was his favourite sweet.

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute—
With sixty seconds worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it.
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son !

READING COMPREHENSION (UNSEEN)

3. Read the following text and answer the questions given below :

Fourteen-year-old Shivanand Tiwari has neither received any formal education nor been to school, but he is on his way to joining an IIT. The prodigy from Rohtas district's Dharmapura village has secured the 2,587th rank in IIT-JEE (Advanced) 2014.

"Till 2010, I didn't have much inclination towards studies, except for solving maths problems," he said. "But then somebody suggested I aim for the IITs", he recapitulated. Shivanand's father Kamalakant Tiwari is a farmer and a history graduate, while his mother Kiran Devi is a homemaker.

"Since childhood I liked spirituality and learnt the epics," he said. "However, when my father saw I liked studying maths and science, he also agreed to my higher studies." The teenager can recite 700 'Shlokas' from the Gita. Shivanand is well conversant with many works of Vivekananda. He declared, "I'm really interested in correlating spirituality and science."

Shivanand scored 93.4% in his Higher Secondary exams this year, but was hoping for better grades in both exams. He desires to take another attempt at JEE next year to improve his rank.
